BALTIMORE June 13

Nothing of importance has transpired here to-day The Court of Inquiry at Frederick was densely crowded on Monday. All the members were present. Captain Kerr of the Dragoons and Sergeant Jordan, were examined for the defence—Their testimony was unimportant.

The Washington Union of to-day has despatches dated Charleston, from a gentleman who left Mexico June 1st which say that the treaty was positively ratified and exchanges made Major Graham is coming home with the credentials.

Three vessels at Baltimore have been chartered to bring home troops.

☞ We see it reported in most of the papers that the Philadelphia Convention held a secret caucus on Thursday, in which a ballot was taken, and Gen Taylor received 124 votes. This is all fiction There was no such caucus, and of course no such ballot

Proceedings of the Whig National Convention.

We have given in previous numbers of our paper telegraphic and other accounts of the proceedings of the Whig National Convention commenced at Philadelphia on the 7th of June and closed on the 9th It is unnecessary for us to repeat the whole matter in a new form and shall therefore merely report some of the most interesting incidents of the proceedings after the nominations had been affected.

Mr McCullough, of New Jersey, arose and remarked —Mr President, New Jersey has some claims upon this Convention It was in New Jersey, sir, that General Zachary Taylor was first nominated as a candidate for the highest office in the gift of his admiring countrymen—(Great cheers) That nomination was made sir upon the battle field of Trenton where the liberties of our country once hung trembling in the balance

I claim this nomination, therefore, as emanating from New Jersey Need I say, sir, that a majority of our delegates voted for General Taylor in this Convention? Again, sir our unanimous vote was asked for Millard Fillmore, of New York, and, sir it was given Whence then, sir, can it much more properly come that the nomination should be unanimously confirmed than from the delegation from New Jersey? I move you, therefore, sir that these nominations be unanimously confirmed (Great cheers)

Governor Vance of Ohio—I arise to second the gentleman's motion I have been, as you all know, Sir, an independent, but silent, opponent of General Taylor and his nomination—But I am like the old soldier, when I am fairly whipped I will surrender (Cheers) I would say now to some of the young and ardent spirits [illegible] think well of this matter, before you dissent from the action of the Whig church of the United States (Cheers) Do you think well of this matter, before you separate yourselves from your friends. Ohio has been placed in a [illegible] position during this controversy We have feared Sir, that the nomination of General Taylor would deprive us of all that we have gained in that State, in fifteen years campaigns in the political field, and Sir I hesitate not to say, that we have fought the hardest political battles that have ever been fought in the United States Yes, sir, there has not been a battle fought by Taylor, from Palo Alto to Buena Vista, nor by Gen Scott, from Vera Cruz to Mexico, that can exceed them—But, as I have said, the contest is over, and I, for one, although it may appear, at first glance, as a forlorn hope, will not despair for carrying Ohio for Gen Taylor (Tremendous cheering) I think I can safely say that, after our Whig friends here shall have gone home, and saw their constituents, and mingled with them in council they will agree to reconcile all differences, and unite in bearing the great standard of the Whig party on to victory, (cheers) Sir when I look abroad on this assembled representatives of the Whig party here, what do I say to myself? I say, gentlemen, you have come up here to unite with your brethren from all portions of the Union States, from Texas to Maine, in rescuing the government from the spoilers who now have possession of it (cheers) And I hope you will not falter in this great enterprise Yes my fellow citizens, you have come up here to rescue the country from Executive usurpation and if you will only unite in one common cause success will attend you (Cheers) Let the matter go as it may, Mr President, I can say for me, and I believe it will be a pretty universal opinion in Ohio—although we have had much feeling there, we have felt that perhaps we were to be sacrificed—that we have done our duty to our opinions, and now, before God I mean to do my duty to my country (Great and enthusiastic applause, and three cheers were given in honor of Gov Vance)

Mr Carroll, of New York —Mr President, we have performed a great feat to day, we have made General Taylor surrender—to his friends He never surrenders to his enemies (Cheers) We will now fight under the banner of General Zachary Taylor We will be triumphant.—The Whig party will never surrender Sir, we have come here from the State of New York—You have taken Millard Fillmore for the candidate for the Vice Presidency Is there one man in the state of New York who doubts that she will respond to what you have done with an overwhelming majority? No sir none (Great cheers) I pledge you, sir, that New York will respond to your nominations

Mr Johnston, of Pennsylvania —I desire, Mr President, to say one word We of Pennsylvania were not able to agree upon candidates prior to the time that the Convention assembled We came here, sir, with divided counsels on the subject, but as soon sir, as the decision of this Convention shall be made known to the Whigs of Philadelphia, I am free to say, sir, that there will be one voice throughout their ranks, and that voice will be 'a little more grape, Captain Bragg' (Thundering applause)

Mr Campbell of Ohio opposed the resolution

The reading of the resolution was called for, and it was read by the Secretary

Resolved, That Gen Zachary Taylor of Louisiana, and the Hon Millard Fillmore, of New York, be, and they hereby are, unanimously nominated by this Convention as the Whig candidates for the office of President and Vice President of the United States

Mr Tilden of Ohio offered the following —

Resolved that while all power is denied to Congress under the Constitution to control or in any manner interfere with the institution of slavery within the several States of this Union, it nevertheless has the power and it is the duty of Congress to prohibit the introduction or existence of slavery, in any territory now possessed, or which may hereafter be acquired by the United States

This resolution gave rise to a very animated debate Mr Brown, of Pennsylvania moved to lay it on the table and his motion was carried

Gov Kent of Maine here moved a resolution of thanks to the President for the dignity, ability and impartiality with which he had presided over the deliberations of the Convention which was unanimously adopted Mr Rhoot, moved a resolution of thanks to the Vice Presidents, Secretaries and other officers of the Convention, which was carried

Mr Johnson, of Penn, moved that a committee of five be appointed to notify the candidates of their nomination An amendment was offered substituting the name of the President of the Convention for the committee of five, which was accepted by Mr Johnson, and the resolution, thus amended, was adopted.

Resolutions were then adopted thanking the clergymen who had officiated, and the Committee of arrangements

Mr Collier, of Ohio—I have a good-natured brother here from New York, but he is not so good natured, or as good-looking as I am—(Laughter) I was born a Whig, have lived a Whig, and by the help of God, will die a Whig. I came here a Whig, I was sent here by Whigs. I know the sentiments of the district, I have the honor to represent and know they will sustain the nominees of this Convention Why, sir, a year ago, or it may be eighteen months, as soon as the news could travel from the Rio Grande to the Ohio of the battles of the 8th and 9th of May, we could have elected old Zack Taylor, President, and his 'old Whitey, the Vice President (Great cheers, laughter and applause) Mr President, if these gentlemen make so much noise, they will knock all the noise out of me! Ohio will do her duty in this contest I shall go home, take off my coat, roll up my shirt sleeves, and go to work for old Zack Taylor (Great cheers.)

Mr Peck, of Ohio, came here with the full determination to abide by the decision of the Convention We are not here as enemies, but as friends, to exchange our opinions, and fight for the common good, and we have chosen Taylor and Fillmore as the standard bearers in the coming contest and I as one of the representatives from Ohio, pledge myself—and I think I will be pretty safe in pledging the Whigs of my district—yes, sir, and the Whigs of Ohio to support the nominees of this Convention I feel that I am perfectly safe when I follow in the footsteps of the veteran Gov Vance, and that noble Whig, Col Collier, (cheers) I regret exceedingly to differ with a portion of the delegates from Ohio, but I feel it to be a duty which I owe to this Convention and my constituents not to sit silently by and allow the impression to be created among the friends of the Whig cause and the delegates to this Convention, that Ohio will rebel against our proceedings here In conclusion, I will simply remark that my best talents and all the strength that God has given me shall be exerted to secure the election of the nominees (Enthusiastic cheers) Gen Taylor, apart from politics, is enthroned in the hearts of the people of Ohio, no man in the Union has ever enjoyed the affection of the American people to the same degree, save the sainted Washington Who would not rather be Gen Taylor, thus enthroned in the hearts of his countrymen, than wear the livery of royalty?

Mr Janney, of Va Mr President, had it not been for the discussions that have arisen here, I should have given these nominations a silent vote I was one of the delegation from Virginia that voted for Henry Clay on the first and second ballots I went a step farther, and voted for him on the third, and if the voting had continued from now till next November, I should have continued to vote for him, from a sense of duty but now I have another duty to perform, which is to exert the best faculties which God has given me in support of the nominees The gentleman from Massachusetts held up his arm this morning, and invoked its aid to defeat the action of this body I wish to speak with becoming reverence, but I mean to pray as fervently as he did for its aid to defeat his action I have differed with some of the delegates from Virginia with pain but I trust we have all discharged our duty according to our understanding of it We know how to disagree like men, like gentlemen and Whigs

But, sir, I have a word to say of far more importance than this I come from the only district in Virginia that has always been Whig, since the first organization of the party, and never has the shadow of the wing of modern progressive or aggressive democracy passed over it When I go home and tell them that their favorite candidate has been lost, they will receive the information with feelings of disappointment, but they will have a sterner, a deeper, a higher, and a holier feeling than that of disappointment, and that is, that so far as to them lies, your decree shall be carried into execution

Mr President our venerable friend from Ohio (Mr Vance,) spoke of the true Whig church, in which the true faith is to be found, and there is not a Whig in my district—there cannot, from the nature of the case, be a Whig found, from whom he can pluck up the roots of this faith I have but one word more to say, and that is that every Whig in my district will vote for the ratification of your nominations

Mr Babcock, of Connecticut—I come from a small State but one which exerts a great moral power through her schools, which is felt through all the Union It is a State that in the revolutionary contest did as much as any other in the Union except Massachusetts, for the records of history show us that she sent as many troops as any of her larger sisters I come from a State that has always exhibited an undying attachment to the recent great Whig leader, Henry Clay (Cheers) I voted for him from the beginning to the end Mr Clay in 1840 was not taken up as the candidate, in that we were disappointed, but our State was the very first Whig State to vote upon that nomination—There was some apprehension that the nomination would not be received with feelings of co-operation by the Whigs of Connecticut, but it was sustained triumphantly and I [illegible] that Connecticut will sustain in the same triumph our present nominees (Applause)

Mr Langdon, of Alabama—I come sir, from a State of which I regret I cannot say as much as the gentleman who has preceded me But I can say that, as our country is the land of my nativity, I can equal him in devotion to our common cause Alabama, as far as regards the Whig cause has never done much, but we claim that those who have fought against Locofocoism there, are entitled to the respect of the Whigs in other States We have fought against fearful odds, and have succeeded in building up a party in the State, and have compelled our opponents to respect our principles and fear our strength I came here under a solemn pledge to abide by the decision of this Convention—Whatever my attachments to men, I will yield them to the common good but I will never yield my principles I came to vote for Henry Clay of Kentucky I fought as long as there was hope and even against hope, and should have continued to do so on every ballot But I am now determined, as far as in me lies by the aid of my colleagues, to revolutionize Alabama I have labored in times past and shall continue to be found tugging at the oar I give the nominations my hearty concurrence

Mr Fowler, of New York —Mr President It is perhaps known to many of this Convention, that I have been from the opening of this body to its close, a strong, full blooded, double twisted, out-and-out Henry Clay Whig, I have loved the man, and I love him still I came to this Convention with a sense of responsibility deeper than I ever felt before I felt that the results of this Convention would be seen and felt in every nook and corner of our land If instead of coming to make a President, of a great and free people, if we had assembled to appoint a King or Queen, we might have selected some smooth faced damsel, and taken off our hats and thrown them in the air, and gone home to discuss the rights and titles of her little majesty when she were announced to the world But we come here to make a President for a great and free people We have voted upon that important subject and the question has been decided Upon the principles of this government, the majority ought to rule, and the minority submit, and I stand submissive to the decision of this Convention (Applause)

Mr Richardson, of Maryland—Mr President, I am one of the delegates from Maryland She has always been the firm friend of Henry Clay, and to have made him President by my individual vote, I would have walked from the Aroostook to the Rio Grande But this convention has decided otherwise and now I would do the same thing if necessary for General Taylor (applause) I tell my friends here from every State, take care of Maryland she will have the State banner in her majority Our nominations are now made, our banner is unfurled to the breeze it floats to the winds of heaven, and inscribed thereon are the names of Taylor and Fillmore These are to raise it aloft, they are to be our standard bearers, and we will march onward! onward! onward still, and will place it upon Capitol Hill on the fourth of March, 1849 Our nominations are made, and in their names let the kettle drum to the trumpet speak, the trumpet to the cannoneer without, and the cannon to the heavens, and the heavens back to the earth again, till reverberations shall reach the utmost limits of our land, proclaiming Zachary Taylor President, and Millard Fillmore Vice President (Long continued applause)

Mr Conrad of Louisiana pledged Gen Taylor to be a true and devoted Whig, he was well known and appreciated for many high and noble qualities He was a Virginian by birth, but he belonged, as does his glory, to the whole country, although his temporary residence is Louisiana Over zealous Whigs have doubted the Whiggery of Gen Taylor but with all candor and sincerity he declared his belief that he was as good a Whig as any man in the country

(A member from Me he asked to be informed whether Gen Taylor was not opposed to the doctrine of Protection)

Mr Conrad replied that he could not speak on particular subjects, but he believed he was in favor of Protection, at all events, if he, Mr C, did not think that Gen Taylor was in favor of Protection, he should have considered himself recreant as a Whig and to his State, to have come up to this Convention to support his nomination He believed, too, that as Gen Taylor had never surrendered to his enemies he would never betray his friends!

Mr Hilliard offered a resolution that the Convention cordially approve of Gen Taylor's letter to Capt Allison, believing it to contain sound and true Whig principles

Mr Sherman, of Ohio, said there were two entire delegations who had retired from the Convention to nominate their State electoral tickets, as they presumed all business but the mere formal details had been accomplished As then a full vote could not be obtained, he appealed to Mr Hilliard to withdraw his resolution,

Mr Hilliard said he would do so, not because any one present would not cordially subscribe to its spirit, but because the reason assigned by the gentleman was a forcible one

Mr Haskell of Tennessee, then moved that the Convention adjourn sine die

The President, Gov Morehead then rose and said, in substance, as follows: Gentlemen of the Convention—Before dissevering the tie which has been created, permit me to return my profound thanks for your kindness and forbearance to me personally [illegible] placed me in this chair to the duties to which I am unused and unaccustomed—and that the same spirit of kindness has sustained me in their performance If I have committed any mistakes or errors, or if, in the discharge of my duties here, I have caused pain to any individual I have only to say it was unintentional, and it would cause me serious regret Let us, at all events carry away with us no unkind feelings and I shall feel happy in the impression that no one has an unkind feeling towards me

I, too, have been placed here in a peculiar situation, and as various gentlemen of different delegations, have given expression to their feelings, I trust I may be allowed also to say a few words before we part I, too, have been defeated in the first wish of my heart I have not succeeded in the nomination of my favorite candidate I stand among the vanquished party—but I will into the hands of my victor friends, like a conquered damsel into the hands of her lover and submit kindly to my defeat (Loud applause) I shall enter upon the campaign in the true Whig spirit, determined to succeed, and if, before the election, any Whig can be found who will outstrip me in zeal, I hope to take such a Whig by the hand, on the fourth of next March at the inauguration of Gen Zachary Taylor

It has on a former occasion been my bad fortune not to have my first choice approved In 1840, the Whigs of North Carolina unfurled the standard of Henry Clay in that State and [illegible] a name to the Harrisburg Convention but the Whigs of that Convention, the representatives of the entire Union sent back to us that standard inscribed with another name, that of William H Harrison—wholly unexpected by us but I only looked to see if it was still the True Whig Banner I did not ask myself what name was on it I never thought of enquiring what [side] of Mason & Dixon's line the nominee was from It was the Whig Banner, and as such it was placed in my hands For five months this [illegible] that banner through North Carolina, until in the succeeding August North Carolina, a slave State fired the first gun of that volley which shook Democracy from one end of the nation to the other Its re-echoes resounded from State to State throughout the entire Union, until the great triumph was achieved

I have mentioned this, gentlemen, for the benefit of Ohio and I will state one incident from which the Whigs of that State may hope and profit North Carolina, though she lost the nomination of her first choice Henry Clay, soon raised on every hill top the banner of Harrison. In one section where a tall pole had been erected with the name of Harrison nailed to the mast, a solitary stranger was seen riding past it, a tract [illegible] by its description he stopped, elevated his [illegible] and seeing the Whig principles inscribed thereon, doffed his beaver and saluted them with three hearty solitary cheers. Nor do I despair before fall that in Ohio will also be seen solitary Whigs cheering the Banner of General Zachary Taylor

I have supported in this body the nomination of Henry Clay—that most illustrious son of our country—his sun is about to set, and I trust his latest hours may be gilded and brightened by our success, which like the bow of promise will betoken the spread of peace and prosperity around our land I have voted for Henry Clay because no man is more largely identified with the glory of our country than he is No administration could add a particle to his undying fame, no honors could be added to his treasure [illegible]. But I yield him to this Convention yield him cheerfully, and, for the future no man can go more heartily than I will for the Hero of Buena Vista

It has been suggested from different states that [illegible] result I this no [illegible] —We should never fear the consequences when our cause is good And our cause is not that of Zachary Taylor but of the Whigs of the Union Let us when dangers are thickening around us take courage from his own conduct at Buena Vista when he said "we have got the enemy just where we want him, now is the time to give him a little more grape Capt Bragg" As our leader never surrenders, is there any one of his followers who intends to surrender, [an emphatic response of "no"] Then if we all pull together we cannot be vanquished

Before departing this body allow me to wish prosperity and happiness to you all and that you may arrive safely at your homes and friends again I bid you a long and affectionate farewell, and declare this convention adjourned sine die

Philadelphia Whig Ratification Meeting

We have already published the fact of the grand ratification meeting held in Philadelphia on Friday evening, and we now publish the resolutions The meeting was addressed from three principal stands and from a dozen groups Many of the best Whig speakers from all parts of the country were present and the occasion was one of great satisfaction

The following resolutions were then read by W S Price, Esq, of Philadelphia

Resolved, That the Whigs of the United States here assembled by their Representatives, heartily ratify the nominations of Gen ZACHARY TAYLOR as President, and MILLARD FILLMORE, as Vice President, of the United States, and pledge themselves to their support

Resolved, That in the choice of Gen Taylor as the Whig candidate for President, we are glad to discover sympathy with a great popular sentiment throughout the nation—a sentiment which having its origin in admiration of great military success, has been strengthened by the development in every action and every word, of sound conservative opinions, and of true fidelity to the great examples of former days, and to the principles of the Constitution as administered by its founders

Resolved, That General Taylor, in saying that, had he voted in 1844, he would have voted the Whig ticket, gives us the assurance—(and no better is needed from a consistent and truth speaking man)—that his heart was with us at the crisis of our political destiny, when Henry Clay was our candidate, and when not only Whig principles were defined and clearly asserted, but Whig measures depended on for success The heart that was with us then is with us now, and we care a soldier's word of honor, and a life of public and private virtue, as the security

Resolved, That we look to General Taylor's administration of the Government as one conducive of Peace, Prosperity, and Union Of Peace—because no one better knows, or has greater reason to deplore what he has seen and [illegible] on the field of victory, the horrors of war, and especially of a foreign and aggressive war Of Prosperity—now more than ever needed to relieve the nation from a burthen of debt, and to restore industry—agricultural, manufacturing, and commercial—to its accustomed and peaceful functions and influences Of Union—because we have a candidate whose very position as a Southwestern man, resting on the banks of that great stream whose tributaries, natural and safe to embrace the whole Union, renders the protection of the whole country his first trust, and whose varied duties in past life have been rendered, not on the soil, or under the flag of any State or section, but over the wide frontier, and under the broad banner of the Nation

Resolved, That standing as the Whig Party does, on the broad and firm platform of the Constitution braced up by all its inviolable and sacred guarantees and compromises, and cherished in the affections because protective of the interests of the people, we are proud to have, as the exponent of our opinions, one who is pledged to construe by the wise and generous rules which Washington applied to it, and who has said—(and no Whig desires any other assurance—that he will make Washington's administration the model of his own

Resolved That as Whigs and Americans, we are proud to acknowledge our gratitude for the great military services which, beginning at Palo Alto and ending at Buena Vista, first awakened the American people to a just estimate of him who is now our Whig candidate In the discharge of a painful duty—for his march into the enemy's country was a reluctant one, in the command of regulars at one time, and of volunteers at another, and at both combined, in the decisive though punctual discipline of his camp where all respected and loved him, in the negotiation of terms for a desperate enemy, in the exigency of actual conflict when the balance was perilously doubtful—we have found him the same, brave, distinguished and considerate no heartless spectator of bloodshed, no trifler with human life or human happiness, and we do not know which to admire most, his heroism in withstanding the assaults of the enemy in the almost hopeless fields of Buena Vista—mourning in generous sorrow over the graves of Ringgold or Clay or of Hardin,—or in giving in the heat of battle terms of merciful capitulation to a vanquished foe at Monterey, and not being ashamed to avow that he did it to spare women and children helpless infancy, and more helpless age against whom no American soldier ever wars Such a military man whose triumphs are neither remote nor doubtful, whose virtues these trials have tested, we are proud to make our candidate

Resolved, That in support of such a nomination we ask our Whig friends throughout the nation to unite, and to co operate zealously, resolutely, with earnestness in behalf of our candidate, whom calumny cannot reach, and with respectful demeanor to our adversaries, whose candidates have yet to prove their claims on the gratitude of the nation

The resolutions were unanimously adopted.

☞ There sailed from Newburyport on Saturday 10th inst for the Labrador fishing ground, a fleet of eighteen vessels, manned by 211 men

Existence is only felt to be valuable when it is necessary to some one dear to us The moment we become aware that our death would leave no aching void in a human heart, the charm is gone

THE BEST TRUSS IN USE
Is DR J W PHELPS' Patent Convex Spinal Truss and Abdominal Supporter.

New York Gravel Infirmary, 70 Nassau St., May 21, 1842.
I have examined Mr J W Phelps's newly invented Patent Spinal Truss and concur with Doctors Valentine Mott Stevens and Parker in their opinion of its principle and structure Having an Inguinal rupture myself and used various kinds of Trusses for the last ten years I was induced to try one of these, and finding the adaptation of its spiral pressure and the action of the pad so much easier than any others, I have no hesitation in recommending it in preference to any I have seen
SAM'L B P[illegible], M. D.

To Mr J W Phelps—Sir,—I comply with pleasure with your request for my opinion of your Abdominal Supporter for Prolapsus Uteri I have recommended it in many cases and have heard much satisfaction expressed with its use It is light, keeps its place very well, gives the support required and is not so expensive as to prevent its use by those whose means are small and who so frequently suffer from Prolapsus I give to it with great pleasure my recommendation.

DISEASES OF THE Throat and Lungs.

COUGHS, Colds, Influenza, Coughs, Tightness of the Breast, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Asthma, Pain in the Side and Chest, and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs, are more prevalent during the changes of the Spring months than any other season of the year. Many of these diseases, if neglected, or improperly treated, terminate in Consumption, and hurry their victims to the grave.

DR. VONDERSMITH'S
INDIAN COUGH BALM
and Lung Balsam

have been used in this city and vicinity for the last two years, and the proprietor would confidently refer to the following certificates, which are but a few of the many hundreds that could be produced, as evidence of the unparalleled success which has attended the use of this valuable medicine in all cases of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Bronchitis, Asthma, Croup, Pain in the Side and Chest, Hoarseness, Whooping Cough, and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

CONSUMPTION
CURED
Of Twenty Years' Standing!

City of New York, ss.

This is to Certify that I have for a number of years been afflicted with a severe pain in the side and chest, attended with a hard cough, and frequent weakness of the system, and for the space of a long series of years, under the impression that I had CONSUMPTION. I took, from time to time, various medicines prescribed by physicians, but found no permanent relief. I have also been under the care of Dr. Vondersmith, at the Depot, for about two months, during which time I have been entitled to and received
